DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DE 3602427 to Stellram in view of DE 3610016 to Hartner. Stellram discloses a drilling bar comprising a first set of cutters spaced diametrically opposite from each other about a first diameter of the bar (8) and a second cutter disposed at a second diameter of the bar (17) and having a spade drill (2) at the leading end. Stellram further discloses the drilling bar having a diameter nearly as large as the diameter of the bore (the diameter is inherently larger than some bore). Stellram does not however disclose having a set of cutter heads about the second diameter of the bar (as seen in figure 1, only one cutter is provided at 17). Hartner provides a teaching for a set of cutters spaced diametrically opposite each other about a diameter of a drilling bar. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a set of cutters on the second diameter of the bar instead of just a single cutter for the purpose of preventing bending of the bar during drilling and to balance drilling forces. The method of providing the boring bar is inherently taught by the combination of Stellram and Hartner, as applied above. Regarding the step of causing rotation relative to the valve and drilling bar to form a stepped bore in one cycle, in that Stellram in view of Hartner provides a bar having 2 sets of cutters spaced about a first diameter and a second larger diameter this boring bar is inherently capable of forming a bore in this manner.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. This is simply art of interest and was not used to reject any claims in this office action.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
